

See ya' 2023

The Law Offices of the Public Defender is about people. Sure, we're a state agency, a law firm, with buildings and job titles, but at our core, LOPD is about all of us serving our clients and striving to improve our communities. We are also about what I see in these pictures: our coworkers together, building a place that does some of the best public defense in the country, talking and learning and innovating, seeing problems and injustices and working to fix them. This is what teamwork looks like. This is what progress and change looks like. On behalf of the LOPD leadership and our Commission, I thank each of you for your contribution to our work, and I'm ready to see what we can do together in 2024.
